IRISH VILLAGE

At the St. Louis World's Fair a Revelation to First Visitor.

A Marvelous Display of Arts, Industries and Agriculture.

One Can Not Realize Its Value
Unless He Personally
Inspects.

IS AN EDUCATION IN ITSELF

In the Irish village at the St. Louis World's Fair Ireland maintains an independent demonstration of her activities in agriculture and the arts and sciences. There are other exhibits from Ireland in the British section, but to get a glimpse of what the Irish are capable of doing one must go to the department conducted by the Irish Exhibit Company, at the head of which is Mr. Thomas F. Hanley, Myles F. Murphy and J. C. Hill, of Ireland.

There are those who believe that Ireland is lacking in progress, but their eyes would be opened should they look at the varied industries and arts of the Emerald Isle in the hall covering a couple of acres of space in the Irish village. Here the artistic element is uppermost. The beautiful laces from the convents and cottages occupy case after case and present the latest designs for lace making. American women spend hours admiring this beautiful handwork.

In the historic loan collection there is a remarkable grouping of Irish prints and engravings, which includes portraits of almost every man who played an important part in Irish history. There are also landscapes from every part of Ireland. The art exhibit compares well with those of Italy and France, the reputed centers of art in Europe.

There are astonishing facsimiles of prehistoric Celtic ornaments, the originals of which are in the Dublin museum, the aggregate of gold composing them being over 500 ounces. This is the largest collection of such objects in the world, and the whole makes a striking and valuable illustration of ancient Celtic art. One could spend days and weeks looking at these collections. The editor of the Kentucky Irish American regrets that he could not spend at least two or three weeks in the Irish Village. He feels that he would be amply repaid in doing so.

Of the modern industrial effort of Ireland too much can not be said, and it would take at least a page of this paper to enter into details. Most notable of these is a bewildering array of bog oak carvings, jewelry, woollens and linens. The latter exhibit is the largest ever brought together. There is delicate hosiery from Balbriggan. The most attractive display of poplins, famed the world over, is to be seen. The display of the hemp and flax twisting industry is immense. The wool twisting industries of the west of Ireland are also elaborately shown. This industry has recently been revived in Ireland and is growing to be most extensive. It is patronized by the Counties of Aberdeen.

Every person of Irish birth or extraction, and in fact every visitor to the fair, will be more than repaid by visiting the Irish Village. The fact is they will be instructed and charmed. The editor of the Kentucky Irish American had no conception of the exhibit until he personally visited the fair last week, where he was the recipient of many courtesies

WELCOMED HOME.

President Herrmann, of the City Sinking Fund, Back
From Europe.

Col. P. Joseph Herrmann, President of the City Sinking Fund Commission, returned this week from a trip to Europe. He spent most of his time in the wine-growing districts of France and Germany. He was accompanied by Mrs. Herrmann. On the way across the Atlantic he was accompanied by the Abbots of Gethsemani, the Right Rev. P. M. Obrecht, and Mr. Will L. Weller, Clerk of the Jefferson Circuit Court, and his wife. The latter returned with him, but Father Obrecht remained in France. President Herrmann has not been in France since he left his native Alsace-Lorraine thirty-two years ago. His province is now a part of the German empire. He visited a number of relatives who hold high places officially and socially in his native town. He also visited many of the prominent wine producers with whom he deals and made large orders for wine. The vintage of 1904 is the best for many years.

Mr. Weller and his wife spent a goodly part of their time in Ireland, and both were impressed and highly pleased with their reception and what they saw in the Emerald Isle. Mr. and Mrs. Herrmann were given a reception at their residence on Monday evening in honor of their home coming and more than 200 persons called to felicitate them. Col. Herrmann is Chairman of the Democratic Campaign Committee of Louisville and Jefferson county, and his return has been awaited with considerable interest by his political friends. He received a warm welcome in the City Hall and at Democratic headquarters.

SALES UNDER LAND ACT.

Landlords and Tenants Are Temporizing Upon a Middle Course.

Sales under the new land act, which were at first very slow, are at length becoming more brisk, says a late Dublin cablegram. At first the landlords held out for the highest penny and the tenants held back for the lowest price. They are now temporizing upon a middle course, and quite a number of the small estates of the country are changing hands at terms averaging between twenty-one and twenty-four years' purchase. Terms have in some cases risen as high as twenty-eight and fallen as low as fourteen years' purchase.

TAKES NEW PLACE.

Joseph De Coursey, for a number of years timekeeper for the Louisville & Nashville and widely known in railroad and business circles, has resigned his position to engage in the coal business with the Scanlon Coal Company, and will have charge of the office at South Louisville. Joe is a popular young man with a host of friends who will cheerfully place their orders with him for their winter's warmth.

EMERALD CLUB DANCE.

The dance to be given by the Emerald Club Monday evening at Ostrader's Hall promises to be one of the most enjoyable of this season's social affairs, as the young ladies in charge are all popular and have a host of friends who will be present to assist in making this dance a success. The committee in charge are Misses Mayne Keenan, Ella O'Connell, Virginia Barrett, Nora and Ella Fitzgerald and Julia Kelly.

ROBERT J. WYNNE.

New Postmaster General Father of Ten Children, Seven Living.

Is Irish and Catholic and Was Former Newspaper Man.

His Love of Music Led to His Marriage and Fortune
Also.

HE IS A MAN OF READY WIT

Robert J. Wynne, the new Postmaster General, is a man after President Roosevelt's own heart. He is vigorous, witty, democratic and above all an exemplar of the President's views on race suicide. He is the father of ten children, seven of whom are living, says the New York Sun.

It is chiefly for the sake of this large family that Mr. Wynne is glad that he was appointed to the Cabinet. He also regards his promotion as a compliment to the body of Washington newspaper correspondents of which he was a member until a few years ago. Mr. Wynne is of Irish descent. He has the proverbial lawyer. The young man's martial spirit was fired and he wanted to go to the front. He had his way and went off to Cuba as a Second Lieutenant of marines. He was recommended for bravery in the Chinese campaign. The second son, Henry Boynton Wynne, has just left St. John's College, a local Catholic institution, and is to study law and real estate with the idea of looking after the property interests of his parents. The oldest girl, Alice, is the wife of S. J. Simlar, a Canadian linguist, and lives in the Dominion.

One day the President asked his present Cabinet associate:

"How many children have you, Mr. Wynne?"

"I'm the father of ten," was the answer, "and seven of them are living."

"Shake hands," said the President in his quick way. "You must be an honest man."

And Wynne replied:

"I haven't had time to be anything else, sir."

The Wynnes are Catholics and strict in their attention to religious duties. They are Irish on both sides. They have a handsome house in Rhode Island avenue, between Ninth and Tenth streets, formerly the residence of Augustus Garland, Senator from Arkansas and Attorney General in Cleveland's first Cabinet.

PRIEST AGAIN VICTOR.

The Rev. D. J. O'Sullivan, rector of the Church of the Immaculate Conception at St. Albans, who was recently re-elected to the Vermont Legislature by the Democrats over Col. Hall, the Republican nominee, received a majority of 133, the total number of votes cast being 1,135.

A BAZAR MAY BE DECIDED UPON

The Academy of Our Lady of Mercy, conducted by the Sisters of Mercy at 1150 East Broadway, is not large enough to accommodate the pupils and Sisters, and a convent is to be erected on the adjoining lot west of the academy. The old building now used as a living room is to be torn down and a new convent building erected for the accommodation of the fifty Sisters who teach in the academy and also in the various parochial schools throughout the city. The present quarters of the Sisters are so crowded that many of them are compelled to sleep in the garrets. Architect Neil Curtin is preparing plans without giving offense. We want the school that inculcates, along with arithmetic, geography and bookkeeping, the true principles of morality which guide in conduct in after life; not a school of fads and fancies of inventive minds, but one of the old, solid type, which is approved by the educators of ancient and modern times. Look at France and be warned by the conditions that prevail there today. There the Government and the church is overpowered by Jews, pagans and non-believers, who now spurn and trample on the rights of those who are numerically as great as themselves, who seek to destroy the church by abolishing the schools and exiling the religious orders."

MOVING NICELY

Toward Occupancy of Mackin Council's New Club House.

Members of Mackin Council are looking eagerly forward to the occupancy of their beautiful $10,000 club house, which will be about November 1. At the meeting Tuesday night Fred Leizer, the building contractor, was initiated, and congratulations were ordered sent Supreme President Fogarty.

Chairman Dan Weber announced that there was a great demand for invitations for the Thanksgiving eve dance, which will prove a financial as well as social success. It will be the first one given in the new hall, which will be handsomely decorated for the occasion.

Chairman Will Kerberg reported progress for the bazar, which will open on November 17. The list of prizes to be awarded surpasses any heretofore offered, some of them being valued at $100. For weeks the Ways and Means Committee have been working zealously for the opening and they now feel confident of success.

COUNTY OFFICERS

For Hibernian Ladies' Auxiliary Will Be Elected
Next Month.

At a largely attended meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary, A. O. H., Wednesday night it was decided to hold the biennial election for county officers on Sunday, November 20. This will be interesting and several spirited contests may be looked for, as the honor for being a member of their County Board is highly prized.

Miss Lily Callahan, the Vice President, was absent, not having returned from the World's Fair, where she had been spending the past month as the guest of Mrs. John Tierney, formerly of this city. Members who saw her there say the fair is not the only attraction that holds her in the Mound City. Her chair was ably filled by Miss Margaret Callahan.

Reports from the Entertainment Committee show the recent encure was a decided success, and it is almost certain another will be soon given. An invitation was received and accepted to the reception and dance to be given by the Emerald Club next Monday night at Ostrader's Hall.

OPENS UP AGAIN.

John J. Sullivan, for many years proprietor of the Willard Hotel cafe, has purchased the grocery and saloon at the northwest corner of Preston and Walnut streets and is again in business. No man is better known or has more friends in the eastern part of the city, and they will all be glad to deal with him. He will carry a full line of groceries, wines, liquors, cigars and tobacco, and his patrons are assured fair and prompt treatment.

MIRACLE,

They Say, Was the Cure of One of the Sisters of Providence.

Sister Clementine of St. Mary's of the Woods Restored by Prayer.

Suffered Long From Agonizing Pains Which Suddenly Vanished.

WAS RESTORED AT THE ALTAR

Bishop Chatard and various Indianapolis and Terre Haute physicians are interested in an alleged miraculous cure which occurred at St. Mary's of the Woods, one of the best known Catholic institutions of the West, in August, but the details of which have been kept secret pending investigation which was designed to determine whether the cure was really permanent. The present indications are that the cure is as permanent as it was sudden.

The subject of the so-called miracle is Nellie Luken, of Richmond, a music teacher, who entered St. Mary's as a novice. After taking the vows and adopting the name of Clementine, her health suddenly failed. She was rarely free from agonizing pains, and eventually the disease developed into tuberculosis of the spine and she was compelled to use crutches. For more than a year she was unable to leave her room except on her crutches, and then the pain was so intense that she was soon forced to return to her bed. Sister Clementine prayed unceasingly that she might be relieved of the disease or that she might die and thus end her suffering, but no word of complaint was ever known to escape her lips.

In speaking of her condition to the Mother Superior she said it was a mystery that she could not explain, but she believed her suffering was for some wise purpose, and unless God chose to separate her from it she was willing to bear it with resignation. Here is the story from her own lips of how and when the cure was effected:

"In August, on the anniversary of the birth of our Blessed Mother of God, I went to the chapel with the assistance of my crutches and prayed to God that on the anniversary of his mother's birth he would listen to the prayer of a poor, suffering creature and in honor of his mother restore her to health and strength. I prayed as I had never prayed before. Before leaving the chapel I felt a strange feeling as of some mighty change coming over me. I began to feel stronger, but I could not make myself believe that my strength was returning. But I found that I could kneel down and get up without the aid of my crutches. Fearing a commotion if I left the chapel without them, I went away as I came, and though I carried my wooden supports under my arms I did not lean upon them. I went to mother's room and told her what had happened. My presence shocked her, for she supposed I was unable to leave my room. I told her of my prayers and how I felt and what a wonderful transformation had occurred. She was greatly surprised, but at her suggestion we returned to the chapel and together thanked Almighty God for the great miracle He had wrought. That was the last time that I used my crutches. It is now over a month since the miraculous recovery took place and I find myself in good health and spirits."

Physicians who were called to see Sister Clementine, and who said her disease was incurable, have made a careful examination since her recovery and have found no evidence of the disease which they advised her would end in death. They now regard her as completely cured

MARY BARRY DEAD.

One of the Oldest and Most Respected Residents of the West End.

Mrs. Mary Barry, widow of the late Thomas Barry, and mother of James and Thomas Barry, one of the oldest and most respected residents of this city, died at her home on High avenue Wednesday morning after an illness of only a few days, and the sad news came as a shock to the many friends of the family in all parts of Louisville, and in Frankfort, Lexington, Covington and Chicago. Mrs. Barry was born near Westport, County Mayo, Ireland, sixty years ago. For thirty-five years she had resided in Louisville and was widely known for her devotion to her church, her family and her friends. The funeral took place Friday morning from St. Patrick's church, requiem mass for the repose of her soul being celebrated by Vicar General Cronin in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends, after which the remains were laid to rest beside those of her husband in St. Louis cemetery. May her soul rest in peace.

FATHER EDWIN DRURY

Doing Phenomenal Missionary
Work in Hardin County.

Rev. Edwin Drury, the diocesan missionary of this diocese, gave a splendid mission last week at the Church of St. John the Baptist at St. John, Hardin county. The mission began on the 9th and closed on the 16th of October. Rev. Fathers Fike, of St. Mary's; Whelan, of St. Anthony; Brey, of Cloverport, and Ruff, of Leitchfield, assisted in hearing the 404 confessions which were the fruit of Father Drury's splendid series of instructions. The pastor, Rev. J. J. Abell, was very much pleased with the fervor and fidelity with which his people attended the mission and with its happy results. At every service the large church was crowded beyond its capacity. The series of lectures on moral subjects were plain and practical to the highest degree and were concluded with an impressive lecture, given by request, on temperance. Next Sunday, October 23, Father Drury will begin a mission at the Church of St. Anthony, Hardin county.

THE DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

The Kentucky Irish American this week prints the ticket nominated by the Democracy of Louisville and Jefferson county to be voted for in November. The ticket is a strong one. Hon. Swagar Sherley, the nominee for Congress, has served one term with credit. He comes of an old Kentucky family and his first term has been a brilliant one. He is a lawyer of ability and a gentleman.

The judicial nomination ought to be satisfactory to every citizen, and particularly to every lover of integrity and fearlessness on the bench. The Hon. Matt O'Doherty, who received the nomination to fill the unexpired term of the lamented Judge Upton W. Muir on the Circuit bench, is entirely worthy of the confidence of the people. Judge O'Doherty is now filling the position with distinction on an appointment from the Governor, and his election should be practically unanimous on account of his sterling qualities.

R. W. Bingham has made a splendid County Attorney, devoting all his time to the office and successfully protecting the interests of the people. The candidates for the other offices are all men of experience, most of whom have served their constituents faithfully and well.

The ticket as a whole is made up of able and honest men, who in the past have made fully apparent their ability and integrity, and therefore voters will fail in the duty if they do not give those candidates their hearty support.

IRELAND AT WORLD'S FAIR.

A visit of a week to the Louisiana Purchase Exposition in St. Louis is an education in itself. The editor of the Kentucky Irish American can vouch for this from personal observation, but he was particularly struck with the display of Irish industries. Much has been written about this display, which is one of the largest and finest on the grounds. The observer of things Irish will be particularly interested in this display, and no one who has the means should fail to visit the Exposition, even if only to see the Irish industrial exhibit. Irish-Americans can have no conception of the display until they personally look over the concession known as the Irish village, where there is a covering two acres of space.

Mr. Thomas F. Hanley, founder of the Irish Industrial exhibit, and his associates are to be congratulated on the very fine showing made. Mr. Myles J. Murphy is also entitled to the gratitude of the Irish people for presenting the attractions in pen pictures to the American people.

To recount in a newspaper article the many things to be seen at the Exposition is out of the question. Suffice it to say the entire exhibit reflects credit on the Irish race. To refer to the exhibits in extenso would require many columns of space.

What we desire to call the attention of our readers to in this editorial is that they ought to go and see the fair, even if for only a day or two, if for nothing else, to see Ireland and the department of agriculture and technical instruction in the industrial hall in charge of Mr. J. C. Hill. This great exhibit has done much to elevate the standing of the Irish in this country, and has disabused the minds of many thousands of the visitors of the opinion that the Irish were not up in all the arts and industries of the present age.

HOME RULE.

Before sailing for home John E. Redmond, the Irish Parliamentary leader, issued a warning to the American people about the insidious attempt which is being made by the agents of the British Government to divert the minds of the Irish people from home rule to industrial revival. Mr. Redmond contends that Irish industries can not thrive without home rule. He says those who are conducting the movement for industrial revival are for the most part anti-home rulers and he warns the Irish people not to be deceived by them. Home rule is the paramount issue.

Our Dumb Animals for October, published in Boston, Mass., by that eminent American philanthropist and lover of humanity, George T. Angell, is one of the most interesting numbers of that publication we have ever read. On the first page an illustration, entitled "Horses in War," shows the cruelties practiced on dumb animals. On the inside pages are pictures of animals in time of peace, one attractive picture being "A Russian Peasant's Home." Mr. Angell is an advocate of peace between men and of kindness to dumb animals, and is doing good work for mankind. Would that there were more men like him and more publications of the character of Our Dumb Animals.

William Jennings Bryan spoke to nearly half a million people in Indiana during the past eight days, winding up his tour in New Albany on Thursday night. There would be no chance for the Democrats to carry Indiana unless the free silver element in the party supported Parker and Davis, and the leaders in the Hoosier State claim that the silver men since Bryan's speaking tour are now giving the Democratic national ticket their undivided support. No matter how the election goes, the Democrats owe William Jennings Bryan a deep debt of gratitude.

Archbishop Chapelle, of New Orleans, Papal delegate for Cuba and Porto Rico, who is now in Rome, had a private audience with the Pope on Wednesday. Now look out for press reports telling us everything that did not take place.

Alderman J. W. Fowler is being urged to become a candidate for Mayor. He would make a clean and progressive Chief Executive.

SOCIETY.

Hon. John Letterie and wife are expected home today, after spending two weeks at the World's Fair.

Charles Vanpel and his estimable wife are devoting a period to rest and recreation at West Baden Springs.

Miss Catherine Whalen was given a surprise party at her home on Thursday evening of last week by a gathering of friends.

Misses Mary Daley and Katie Myers are home after a delightful visit with their aunt, Mrs. Alex. Arnold, in Clifton Heights.

Misses Lucille O'Brien and Martha Johnson returned Wednesday from a short visit with Mrs. Harry Robb on the Preston-street road.

Thomas Keenan and daughter, Miss Mayme, will spend next week at the World's Fair. They will be guests of the Irish House of Parliament.

Walter S. Fritschner has just recovered from an attack of pleurisy, and his many friends are happy to have his smiling countenance in their midst once more.

Mr. and Mrs. John King, of 1121 West Jefferson street, and their guests, Miss Margaret O'Connor and Sarah Welsh, are spending ten days at the St. Louis Exposition.

Mrs. M. J. Tierney and daughter, Misses Kate, Jos. Allen and her niece, Miss Katie Purcell, have returned after a delightful two weeks' visit to the World's Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. John King, of 1127 West Jefferson street, and their guests, Misses Margaret O'Connor and Sarah Welsh, have gone to St. Louis for a ten days' visit to the fair.

Ben Horstman and wife, of Fifth street, are spending the week at the World's Fair, and while in the Tyrolean Alps will have recalled many scenes of their very pleasant European trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Grimes and their charming little daughter, Anna Marie, of 1910 Portland avenue, and Miss Bridget Grimes, returned this week from a most delightful trip to St. Louis and the World's Fair.

A pretty girl baby has arrived and brightens the home of Patrick Kilkenny, 630 Shipp street. The little one is said to be a perfect picture of the proud father, who has been kept busy receiving congratulations.

Charles O'Connor and wife were among the prominent visitors to the World's Fair last week. They were the recipients of marked attention from the Knights of Columbus, of which Mr. O'Connor is a leading member.

James J. Fitzgerald, P. J. Callahan, Robert Watson, John J. Cronan and Thomas Keenan were prominent figures last week at the World's Fair, and at the Knights of Columbus exercises in Festival Hall they were honored with reserved seats.

Miss Lily Callahan, of 1414 Seventh street, who has been having an extended visit with Mr. and Mrs. John Tierney in St. Louis, has become so attached to the fair that she may not return until December. She has become quite popular and many would like to keep her there.

Col. Joseph Sibley and wife and John E. Simon visited the World's Fair last week. They spent a great deal of their time in Ireland and the German Tyrolean Alps, but were unable to determine which had the better exhibit. They also attended the Knights of Columbus banquet.

Fred Struck and his charming wife have been having a strenuous time this week at the World's Fair. It is said the Irish and German exhibits pleased them most, for from the two they selected the larger portion of their souvenirs. They also spent a pleasant day at the Pabst brewery.

Messrs. Jerry Mullen and Mike McCormack, of Washington, D. C., have been the guests of Mrs. Mary T. Barrett, of 838 East Main street, during the past week, having just returned from the World's Fair. They will be the guests of the Emerald Club at their dance Monday evening at Ostrader's Hall.

George Ratterman and his estimable wife and George Bahr are home from an extended visit to the World's Fair. They attended the exercises of the Knights of Columbus in Festival Hall and spent much time in the Palace of Arts, where special attention was shown Mrs. Ratterman, who is an artist of much merit.

The Clematis Club, composed of popular young ladies, will give a leap year dance at Ostrader's Hall on Wednesday night, when they expect to entertain many of their friends. Misses Mattie Lee Beeler, Josephine Uhl, Alice Craig and Mamie Uhl have the affair in charge and will act as a reception committee.

Miss Katie Green, of 1308 Sixth street, who has been spending the summer months with relatives in Evansville and St. Louis, is now the guest of Mrs. John Tierney, and is almost a daily attendant at the World's Fair. The spots that afford her the greatest pleasure are the Kentucky building and the Irish industrial palace. She will return home about the middle of November.

The Cathedral was the scene of a pretty autumn wedding Tuesday morning when Miss Mary McElroyne was united in marriage to Edwin Washie. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Schumann in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends of the happy couple. Both are well known and popular in society circles and they were showered with congratulations. After the wedding breakfast, which was

RHODES-BURFORD FURNITURE CO.

ANSWER TO JACQUES.
P. J. Dowling Gives His Views on the C. K. of A. Rerating Question.

To the Editor of The Kentucky Irish-American: LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 18, 1904.—Dear Sir: Allow me space in your valuable paper to contradict a totally misleading and erroneous article upon rerating in the Catholic Knights of America published by Mr. Charles Jacques in your last issue. I am surprised that Mr. Jacques' intelligence would allow him to view the rerating in such a light. The article is calculated to alarm the members and cause them to withdraw from the order under the mistaken idea that the insurance will cost them more than it actually will. The rate does not increase each year. The rate fixed now at the member's present age remains so during his life. As, for instance, Mr. Jacques paid eighty cents on entering, twenty-five years ago. He continued to pay eighty cents until four years ago, when the rate was changed, and he has continued to pay the new rate to this date. Therefore a man rated now at $7.88 per month, age 57, will pay $7.88 during the balance of his life, and no more. For this we have the guarantee of a large sinking fund, the good faith of the order as heretofore and the intelligence of the members, and their confidence in the order, and as the order is now practically upon the basis of the old-line companies, except that it is from $1 to $4 a month cheaper for all ages, there is no probability that there will be any further change in the rating, and the Catholic Knights will continue to pay and flourish for the next twenty-seven years as they have for the past. Yours respectfully,

WILLIAM M. FOGARTY.
Is Now Supreme President of the Young Men's Institute.

The Supreme Council of the Young Men's Institute concluded its labors at Colorado Springs by electing William M. Fogarty to the office of Supreme President and John J. Barry, of the New Haven Echo, Supreme Director for the second term. This news was hailed with exclamations of delight by members of all the councils in the Fall Cities.

Cou McBaron, of Unity Council, New Albany, who has always been a strong supporter of the new President, was among the first to receive the news of his election, and from him we learn that William Fogarty is a sterling and popular young Democrat of Indianapolis, holding the office of City Clerk in the Hoosier metropolis. He is thirty-one years old, happily married and the father of three children. For years he has been active in Y. M. I. circles, being a member of Capital Council of Indianapolis, and has served several terms as Grand Secretary of the Indiana Jurisdiction. His election will give an impetus to the order in the Middle West.

Harry Colgan, Kentucky's delegate, has arrived home, and expresses himself pleased with the work of the Supreme body. The proceedings will show that the Kentucky jurisdiction was ably represented.

WANT NEW HOME.
Unity Council Seeking Site and Will Erect Club House.

Unity Council, Y. M. I., of New Albany, held a rousing meeting Tuesday night, and after an enthusiastic discussion appointed a committee to procure a suitable site upon which to erect a new club house costing $5,000. The members of this progressive society have a flourishing treasury, and the committee was authorized to expend $1,500 for the lot.

President Hinkbein presided and one application was filed. Upon motion the officers were instructed to send a telegram to City Clerk William Fogarty, of Indianapolis, congratulating him upon his election to the Supreme Presidency of the Young Men's Institute. The other business was only of a routine character, but showed the council making steady progress.

RECOVERED.
The people of St. Louis Bertrand's parish are glad to again have with them the Rev. Father Kernan, after a serious illness. Father Kernan was operated on at St. Mary and Elizabeth Hospital and his condition caused his friends much uneasiness. The reverend gentleman is popular with old and young, and all will feel relieved when they see him on God's altar.

RECENT DEATHS.
The funeral of Frank H. Fangmann took place this morning from the family residence, 426 Jackson street, at 7:45 o'clock and from St. Boniface's church at 8 o'clock. The deceased was seventy-nine years of age and was well respected by all who knew him. The interment was in St. Michael's cemetery.

The many friends of Mrs. Katie Walker, beloved wife of Lon Walker, 2412 Bainbridge street, were deeply pained when they learned of her death Tuesday evening. Before her marriage she was Miss Katie Lawler, and was well known in Cincinnati and Pittsburgh. The funeral took place Thursday morning from St. Charles' church.

The sad news reached here Tuesday of the death of James L. Dean, one of the most promising and well liked young men of Henderson. The deceased suffered for some months with patience and fortitude, and though every possible agency for his relief had been tried all proved unavailing. His death caused profound sorrow among his many friends and relatives, and the esteem in which he was held was attested by the large number present at the funeral services.

After attaining the ripe age of seventy-four years, Mrs. Patrick Bohan, one of the most devout and highly esteemed members of St. Mary Magdalen's congregation, passed peacefully to her eternal reward Tuesday afternoon at her home, 522 Lampton street. Her life had been a most exemplary one, and at the funeral services Thursday morning Rev. Father Ganspohl preached a beautiful and feeling sermon. A large concourse of mourning friends followed the remains to their last resting place.

GOES TO HER REWARD.
Sister Pauline, of the Sisters of Nazareth, died early Wednesday morning at the Mercy Hospital in Jeffersonville, where she had been a patient sufferer for two weeks. Sister Pauline was a cousin of the Rev. Father O'Sullivan, of the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, this city, and for twenty-two years had devoted her life to charity work in Lexington. Her remains were taken to the mother house at Nazareth, where the funeral services were held Thursday morning. Sister Pauline's death is deeply regretted by the community of which she was a member and by all those to whom she had kindly ministered as a nurse at St. Joseph's Hospital in Lexington.

CATHOLIC KNIGHTS

Awaiting Decision of Marion
Circuit Court in Injunction Proceedings.

The Case Argued Before Judge Thurman and Taken Under Advisement.

Supreme President Gaudin Interviewed by Kentucky Irish American.

ADDRESSED MEMBERS WEDNESDAY.

The prayer and argument for an injunction against the Supreme Council of the Catholic Knights of America, brought by six members of Branch 47, of Lebanon, to prevent the Supreme officers from carrying into effect on November 1 the assessment adopted at the recent special national convention of the Catholic Knights, was heard Tuesday in the Marion Circuit Court before Judge Thurman. The service was on the Supreme President, Dr. Felix Gaudin, of New Orleans, and Supreme Trustee Joseph McGinn and Supreme Delegate Michael Reichert, both of Louisville. Judge H. W. Rives, of Lebanon, presented the petition of the plaintiffs and made an argument lasting about two hours. Newton G. Rogers, of this city, and Louis Dolle, of Cincinnati, were the attorneys for the Supreme body and fully explained their position, as did also President Gaudin. When the argument had been completed, which was not till 11 o'clock at night, Judge Thurman announced that he would take the case under advisement and hand down his decision Saturday morning. Accompanying the Supreme officers and their attorneys was also ex-Supreme President William O'Neill, of Cincinnati, a well known insurance expert and earnest supporter of the new rate.

Upon his arrival from Lebanon, Supreme President Gaudin cheerfully submitted to an interview by the Kentucky Irish American, and when asked what was the cause of the extra or increased assessments said:

"This is caused by the excessive deaths in the order and by reason of the advanced age of its membership. In a word, we are collecting assessments on the average age of thirty-five years and paying claims at the average age of fifty-five years. Take, for instance, the assessments called this year, which at two per month would realize $380,000, when our death claims call for $742,000, this making a deficit of $362,000, or over five extra assessments. The injunction was brought against the order by six plaintiffs, represented by Judge Rives, to prevent the order from collecting assessment at attained age. To show the strength of our argument, I will, for illustration, take the first named in the suit, Brother Howe. He joined the order in 1879, at the age of forty-five, and is now seventy years of age. Under our present rate he pays $4.52 per assessment, or $64.24 per year. The recognized cost of insurance at the age of seventy is $107.28 per year, for in 1,000 men at the age of seventy you will have 53.55 that will die the first year, making a total at $2,000 each of $107,300, while we collect only $54,240 from them. Therefore who pays the difference? You can not expect the younger men to do it, for according to our present rates the members at twenty would almost pay their cost of insurance at one assessment per month. At thirty years two assessments will be more than sufficient, at forty you will take more than two, at fifty more than three, at sixty over four, and at sixty-five nearly six assessments to pay the actual cost of insurance. Therefore where is the justice, and I will add further the honesty in calling three or four assessments per month, when in one class one assessment would be sufficient almost and the other would require six assessments? This oppression is loading up young members, so much so that 1,085 left us from January 1 to August 1 of this year."

"Is it true that the Catholic Knights of America will be equal to an old line insurance company?"

"In safety it will, but not in cost. Take, for instance, the Howe case. Had he paid when he joined the order the rate we now propose at forty-five, $4.54 per assessment, or $54.48 per year, in his twenty-five years of membership he would have paid $1,362, instead of which he only paid about $900. The difference creating a reserve fund which, at 4 per cent., would pay his benefit certificate at maturity or at his death. For the same insurance in an old line company he would have paid $80 per year, or $2,000 in the twenty-five years, so that under our proposed rate he would still be $680 ahead of the old line. The reason that we can give insurance cheaper than the old line is that our expenses are much less than theirs. For instance, some companies pay their President $50,000 per year, when the entire expenses of the Catholic Knights of America in salaries, office rent, journal, etc., do not amount to that in two years. If you take the insurance reports you will see that in the State of New York the expenses of all the companies doing business in that State amounted to $1,075 for every $1,000 paid in death losses, and the fraternal orders had only $85.16 expenses for every $1,000 of death losses, so that you can see how much cheaper we can give insurance than the old line, and under our new rate, for instance, the man of seventy years will pay the Catholic Knights of America $28.76 per thousand less than he would have to pay an old line company."

"What about doing business with a reserve fund? Will the Insurance Commissioners of the country approve of this?"

"Yes; in fact the Insurance Commissioners of the United States assembled

In Indianapolis on September 21 showed a general sentiment in favor of fraternal insurance associations creating reserve funds. They must realize that this is the only salvation of an order, except they are on the step rate plan, which is to charge more for the insurance every year. However, this plan is not a popular one and at our last council we rejected that plan, and it was not a correct statement that Bro. Jacques made in your paper last week. When a member takes the whole life level monthly rate his rate will remain the same if he lives a hundred years. The level term rate to sixty-five years also remains the same at the time of entry, except the member who elects to change from the term rate to the whole life. Then he will be assessed to his attained age at the time of change, which he can do at any time up to sixty years, and if he gives notice at that age that he will change into the whole life at sixty-five, he need not stand medical examination, but if he fails to give that notice at sixty he must be re-examined or his insurance will cease at sixty-five years. This is good insurance for a young man who can remain in that rate until the age of forty to fifty and then transfer to the whole life level rate.

Before leaving you I wish to give special thanks to the Kentucky Irish American for the interest and at the same time the fairness in which it has treated the Catholic Knights of America—for a Catholic paper that always gives prominent space to our order as you do, should be appreciated by every true and loyal Catholic Knight."

Wednesday night a large number of Catholic Knights assembled at St. Martin's Hall and were addressed by President Gaudin, Supreme Trustee McGinn, Dr. Wathen and others, whose words had good effect and did much to dispel the harmful effects of the ill-founded rumors that have for weeks been in circulation. Supreme Delegate Michael Reichert presided and introduced the Supreme President, saying he stood ready to back his challenge made in these columns, even if he had to defray half the expenses. President Gaudin was pleased to meet so many Catholic Knights, who were told the condition of their order when he took charge. He quoted the words of Archbishop Glennon, who objected to all fraternism and no business principles in the order. With a series of tales the speaker fully and plainly demonstrated the difference between the old and new rates and the necessity for the change, without which there would ensue a deficit of $18,000,000 for the old men now members. It was old men who had voted the present rate, and they did so for the benefit of the old men alone. His explanation of the two options was very clear and was received with much favor. In closing he paid a high compliment to the Kentucky delegates, but scored those who were fighting the order and trying to bring about its disruption. Dr. Wathen counseled calmness and deliberation and suggested that the tables and address be published and sent the members. The order had been falling behind, but now its stability seemed assured.

Dr. Gaudin met many members of the order here before leaving Thursday night for New Orleans.

BOOMING LIBRARY.

Trinity Council Proposes a New Feature For the Winter.

The meeting of Trinity Council, Y. M. I., on Monday night was well attended, though only routine business was expected to be transacted. After Frank T. Caummanis was given the obligation the Entertainment Committee reported that everything indicated that the free library and musical entertainment on November 16 would be a pronounced success.

Following the adjournment the Library Committee met and formed plans for booming the library feature of the council during the winter months. As it now is Trinity's library is a very good one, but the committee is determined to make it better. This feature of the Young Men's Institute is to be commended, and all who can should contribute the libraries of the three councils in this city.

GREAT MINSTREL SHOW.

The Chesterfield Club have issued the programme for their minstrel, vaudeville and dance at Trinity Council Hall next Tuesday night, and a better one was never presented the public by any regular minstrel company. A well arranged and up to date first part precedes a rather extensive olio, the whole concluding with a rollicking farce, after which dancing will follow. Among the fun makers who will take part are Richard Hill, Lawrence Worland, Charley Desse, John Flynn, Frank Pison, Parnell Barrett, Jerome Driscoll, Chris Leahy and Edwin Gahsler. Miss Lillian Waltring will preside at the piano and Prof. Andy will direct the music. The boys say come and see them and you'll wear the smile that won't come off.

MOURNS TWO DEATHS.

Last Tuesday two of New Albany's oldest and best known residents passed away, leaving many friends and relatives who mourn their deaths. Mrs. Anna Monahan, aged sixty-eight years, succumbed to a paralytic stroke suffered several weeks ago, leaving six children, four sons and two daughters. Her funeral took place Thursday morning from Holy Trinity church, of which she was for years a devoted member.

Patrick Cummings, seventy-one years old, died at the home of his son, Thomas Cummings, 72 Vincennes street, after a long illness of a complication of diseases. Five children, two daughters and three sons, survive him.

FIRST DANCE.

The Nonpareil Club has everything in readiness for the opening dance of its fall and winter series, which takes place Wednesday evening, October 26, at the New Athletic Club. The dance promises to be the greatest ever given by the club. The committee in charge has left nothing undone to make it a success. An especially good musical programme has been arranged and light refreshments will be served.

PIANO DRAWING.

Satelli Council, Y. M. I., will hold a drawing for their piano at their club rooms in the Wells building next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. There is quite an interest as to who will be the lucky winner in this drawing.

DANGER PASSED.

Little James Keeney, who was operated on for appendicitis at Sts. Mary and Elizabeth Hospital, has been pronounced out of danger, and will in a few days be able to be removed to his home, 1219 Dumesnil street.

railway. Fifteen wagons of a goods train from Cookstown to Belfast became derailed between Castle Dawson and Magherafelt, and much damage was done to the permanent way. No lives were lost. It is stated the accident was due to a horse and donkey which were wandering about the line being run over. The line was cleared for passenger traffic
Wednesday morning.

HONOR FOR GUS KANE.

This week the American Guild, a Southern fraternal insurance society, has been holding its convention at Birmingham, Ala. The district includes the States of Alabama, Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina. Gus Kane, of this city, who represented Kentucky, was elected President of the district body. Col. Charles T.
O'Ferrall, former Governor of Virginia, is Supreme Governor of the organization.
The election of Gus Kane will be pleasing to the members of the order all over Kentucky and to his many friends here in Louisville.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing
the Past Week—General News Notes.

The Ladies' Auxiliary will elect its officers in December.

A class of sixty was initiated into the order at the Milwaukee Academy of Music last Monday night.

Division 1 will have important business for Tuesday night's meeting. President Tynan requests the presence of all members.

The next two years should see the membership doubled in Louisville.
When the elections take place put forth the best men for office and the end will be easy to reach.

Division 17 of New York City recently presented a handsome statue of St. Patrick to St. Matthew's church. Rev. P. J.
Maughan is the pastor, and also Chaplain of Division 17.

The State officers of the Minnesota Ladies' Auxiliary are working diligently on a plan to increase their insurance policy to $1,000, and hope to have it accomplished by January 1.

For the first time in many months the meeting of Division 3 on Monday night was poorly attended and the business unimportant. The rule has been to always have something doing.

The name of Lawrence Mackey has been frequently mentioned for the Presidency of Division 3, and there are members in all the divisions who would like to see him elected to the position.

Minneapolis Hibernians increased their membership 201 during the past two years. Last month a class of sixty was initiated, and it is expected the membership will reach 2,000 before spring.

Division 1 of Memphis has inaugurated a series of debates. Speaking of the order the Catholic Journal of that city says every true Irishman should be a Hiber-nian, as no other Catholic society can compare with it.

The Literary Committee of Division 4 will have an interesting report to submit next Wednesday night. Arrangements for the encire are being pushed and a fine programme will be prepared. Every member should attend to encourage the committee.

Con Ford, Joe Lynch, John Keane and Edward Keiran are doing good work for Division 2. Not a meeting has passed for some time that they did not present one or more applications. They say they will not cease their efforts until the membership reaches 100.

An interesting item for all to know is that the combined treasures of the various divisions in America and Canada have the grand total of $1,510,977.85, and have paid out for charitable purposes during the past two years $99,576. The total membership of both bodies at the present time is 171,955.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of New Orleans are preparing for their booth at St. Alphonso's festival. The booth will be designed to represent Blarney Castle, and all visitors will be allowed the opportunity to kiss the famous Blarney stone.
To those who visit the booth on Hiber-nian night, October 25, a souvenir will be presented.

Division 1 of Duluth, Minn., which has near 300 members, now meets in the new Cathedral Hall, and intends holding some interesting meetings this winter.
Historical papers will be prepared and short debates, in which all the members will join, are among the things proposed.
Brief addresses on American history and the history of Ireland will be made from time to time.

BROKE TWO RECORDS.

The Stag Bowling Club broke two records in the Falls City Bowling League last Tuesday evening while contesting with the John C. Lewis Club at Montedonico's alleys. They made new records for the highest team score in a single game and also for the highest team score in three games, also establishing a firm hold on first place in the league race. The Stag team is composed of Albert Gregg, Fay Orr, John Oetken,
John J. Barry, Robert Southard, John Y.
Kimberger and Arthur Boardman.
